Suzuki Program at Pakachoag

Sibling Attendance Guidelines

Private Lessons with Suzuki Faculty:

Siblings are welcome to attend private lessons scheduled with a Pakachoag Suzuki Program teacher. It is important, of course, that they are quiet so that parent and student can focus on the lesson. This is an excellent opportunity for them to learn what music lessons are like in preparation for their own lessons.

If you have other children enrolled in private lessons with a non-Suzuki program teacher, we request that you speak with that teacher directly. Teachers outside the Suzuki program may advise or require otherwise, depending upon their own instructional model.

Group Classes:

Pakachoag requests that parents attend group class with just the enrolled student, with the exception of siblings that are at the school for their own lessons that day and older siblings who do not require your attention.

It is important that all members of the group – students and parents, are able to give their uninterrupted attention to the teacher and the class activities.

We know that occasionally things happen and it may not be possible to leave siblings with a caregiver. In the event that your child care plans fall through, rather than missing the class, we request that you drop your Suzuki student off for class, and wait with the sibling in the lobby in Auburn; or, at our W. Boylston site, in an available room or the adjoining hallway.

After class, please email the teacher for the notes and assignment.

Your presence at both the private and group lesson is essential to your child's progress, so please make every effort to attend.
